Google's new notebook llm podcast feature can and will make you money if used properly and lucky for you in this video I'm going to show you exactly how to use this tool copy and paste information and make money it's actually super simple in fact over the last hours I've been messing around with this thing like crazy and you're not going to believe the output and the ability this thing has to put money in your pocket but first what is notebook llm the podcast feature and how does it work it's actually very simple you can go get a free account at notebook llm. google. com then you can click on new notebook and create a repository of sorts for notes you can use Google Drive links from the web or you can even paste text in from external sources so let's say on my computer I have a bunch of files about retirement and different things like this I could simply take these files use a conversion tool and convert them to PDF since that's the format notebook llm uses then simply drag and drop the PDF files right here into the notebook llm it's going to go to work and dissect all of these files take a look at what they're about and make notes on them it's actually insanely powerful in fact if we click on Notebook guide right here we can get an FAQ of our documents a study guide a table of contents timeline briefing Dock and more in this example I actually use transcripts from some of my YouTube videos about domainning and you can see not only does it do an FAQ timelines and more but it also gives me suggested questions and I can chat right here about all the different documents I uploaded or added to my notebook and you could see here it creates an FAQ like that and there's one crazy amazing feature right over here where you could actually create a deep dive conversation podcast autom automatically by clicking this button now it does take a few minutes to actually generate a podcast but just last night I tested this out by throwing a 3our webinar transcript into the Note file and it actually gave me a bunch of different questions to ask a summary a timeline study guide table of contents and the whole nine yards but not only that something amazing happened when I clicked on the audio overview it actually went through and made a minute audio file of two people generated by AI talking about my webinar and my product check this out ever dream of ditching the to5 you know building an online Empire sounds familiar yeah well today we're diving into CPA affiliate marketing oh CPA it's buzzing online definitely as you can see it's going through and actually talking about the ins and outs of the transcript that I provided to it it even goes on and discusses topics in great detail support access to a private Community because no matter how lucrative your Niche is I'll post a link to the demo below so you can listen to this for yourself and see how powerful it is and this was all generated just by putting the notes in the box and not only that but I actually tested this out with some notes about domainning power generators in Florida and more check this out I loaded a few news reports about why you would need a generator here in Florida and it made a really cool dialogue right like this okay is there anything worse than a power outage during a Florida summer yeah seriously it's brutal that AC goes out and you're just done it's the worst and you know what makes it even worse

when you realize it's hurricane season and you haven't even thought about I mean this is an absolute GameChanger if you agree type game Cher as a below and let me know because I'm going to show you how this thing is going to put tons of money in your pocket when used correctly and just out of curiosity I did take one of the transcripts and ran it through grammarly to make sure that none of the content was plagiarized and unlike regular AI articles this came back right out of the gate with 0% plagiarized content meaning it's 100% unique and if you want to create a new notebook all you need to do is go over here and choose how you're going to add the files you can paste text as I showed you before you can even link to a website let's say you wanted to get some kind of news info on the stock market I can click on news take a couple of these news reports right like this and I can have hundreds of them in here and it's going to go through read them compare them and make notes on literally everything then I click the generate button and I got a podcast so now let you know how this thing works how powerful it is and how easy it is to get started oh yeah and did I mention free let's go through and talk about the upsides and downsides of the notebook IIm product by Google and the podcast Generator First of all the upsides are you could literally make tons of content super fast and the downsides are well not that many except perhaps maybe you can't monetize them here on YouTube but there's tons of other places you can use these and that's not to say you can't upload a video and make money with affiliate offers and different things like that more about that in just a minute because now let's get into how to make money at first glance listening to these podcast reminded me of Tony robbin's old commercials and all the infomercials you see on TV if you've seen those type comment below and let me know because what this is doing is generating a low-key sales pitch for pretty much anything that you feed it articles news reports affiliate links products yeah you get the idea it's actually making a dialogue based on the different data you give it and the more data you give it the more unique the outcome's going to be however so that we don't confuse it I'd probably limit it to like pieces of data that way you get something kind of structured towards what you want it for whether it's selling a product pushing an idea making report or whatever it is and once you have these there's actually lots of ways to make money number one you can actually create product discussions that's right you can go out there and get a product let's say you go over to offervault or something like this and maybe you find something like this silk pillowcase okay this is looking pretty good I could quite simply go over to chat GPT or find articles on this topic and say something like tell me the benefits of a silk pillow case and it's going to go through and tell me the benefits of the silk pillowcase then I can say now please compare this to other fabrics and it'll go through and compare it to different fabrics and things like that then I could actually go through and give it the link to the silk pillowcase offer right like this so let's go ahead and open a new notebook and I'll show you how this works we'll go ahead and start with the website link right like this we can see it's already going to work looking at what this product is about now in detail talk about why silk is by far the best and it's going to create this article that we can compare with the link and actually get a dialogue podcast about this product why different pillowcases are good bad the whole nine yards and then it'll actually push the agenda of getting them into the silk pillowcase so now I could just copy and paste this entire conversation right like this add this as a text click the add button copied text paste it right in here like this and now it's going to look at both of these files and make the overview take a look how it changed the questions the table of contents the FAQ the study guide and the whole nine yards we even get a briefing dock that's going to go through of this whole pillowcase thing and we can see it's going to work making all this content for us it even made us an FAQ just on this product alone now let's go through and generate a deep dive conversation and while we're waiting for that to load let's talk about some other things you can do with this tool first we can make product discussions just like we're doing right here number two you can transcribe videos get talks and summaries and learn at a rapid pace and even generate audios that you can listen to on the go use on your website create content from the whole n yards or number three you can use this to look at various news reports news updates and new tools think about if you had a website where you're talking about crypto updates you can simply create all these different podcasts talking about different cryptos Bitcoin versus ethereum ethereum versus Litecoin you get the idea or we could talk about new AI tools just imagine if I FedEd information on the notebook llm and other products that are similar I mean it's going to go through and make a podcast super quick we can also use like the example I did earlier where I posted the content from a webinar and got an entire discussion on the webinar and I actually listened to the entire minutes and it did a pretty good job of dissecting everything addressing the concerns and actually telling them it's a good idea to buy my product Yep this was unbiased again I'll put the link in the description so you can listen to that and see how it works and it's not just limited to your webinars you can use this on Guru webinars to sell affiliate products like crazy this is literally one of the biggest game changers in AI that I've seen today we can also use this for Rapid Niche learning I can go through and put all the articles on my website and get an overview of what people want create a podcast dialogue a table of content a bre brief or use this information to create sales letters I mean the sky really is the limit we can also use this to create sales video talks I could use a program like Camtasia right here and I could simply drag and drop the audio right onto the timeline and put different images and videos that match what the speakers are talking about or I could quite simply just have it create text based on the Audio I mean this is insane I can just drag it right here on the timeline click on more captions add the captions right here like this and check this out it actually makes text right like this without me lifting a finger all right so we're diving into the Florida housing market today yeah it's a it's a Hot Topic it really is headlines everywhere you know and as you can see this is one I did on the Florida housing market and I actually had an angle on it where they're talking about refinancing your house if you live in Florida which is perfect for pushing a refinance offer and if we go over here and type in refinance much like the pillow offer that pays $42 a sale this one actually pays on a lead so we get $40 when they fill out a form to get a refinance and since this podcast is doing the job of telling them they need a refy I can get signups in a snap and creating these little sales video talks is a game Cher not only that but we can make radio style infomercials which up until now cost thousands and thousands of dollars to produce you had to write a script you had to get actors you had to do takes edits and cuts but now with Google's notebook llm it's all done for us and another cool thing you can use this for is plr products a lot of people talk about master resell rights and plr and different things like that just imagine if you took a topic got a bunch of plr products threw it into this tool and generated an audio dialogue in seconds you could use that to sell the plr you could use it to add on to the plr create a product around it are you starting to see the possibilities here good smash that like button and let's dive in even further because what we want to do here is think different we want to look at this and say what kind of topics can we discuss and don't worry if you're struggling to come up with them in addition to having the recordings from the video that we made with the notebook llm I'm also going to have a list on download myn notes.

com of over different podcast ideas including some of the top podcasts that are out there today but you can see here the sky is a limit the history of money crafting a personal budget real estate forecasting family financial planning on and on we go and make sure that whatever you're doing ties to an affiliate offer that pays you money because we could go to JV Zoo ClickBank offer Vault and find all kinds of offers and then just throw a bunch of data into this tool and get podcasts that are going to help us sell these offers like crazy and some other ways you can make money with this is by having sponsored episodes if you create podcasts on a specific topic like Finance or sports or maybe crafts or parenting whatever it is you can actually find advertisers to sponsor your episode and make money you can also use affiliate marketing where you're pushing products and services and you get paid when they buy stuff download things click things or whatever it is for example example let's say you wanted to create a podcast about couponing you could talk about different couponing sites and the whole nine yards and as you can see here over at Max Bounty the affiliate Network you could get this coup art browser extension that will help people save money it's like a little toolbar they use to find coupons and save money and that pays $4.

every time someone downloads it through your affiliate link yep that's right they don't even have to buy anything so you could quite simply go over here find news about different coupon sites throw it into the tool get a podcast give it the link to coert so it could see how it works and then you can drive people to your podcast and get all kinds of traffic much like this press release here where it talks about using coupons to combat inflation I mean that's an angle I probably never would have thought of and throwing them in here and getting notes is an absolute Game Changer even if you're not using the audio overviews this is a game changer in terms of the notes you can get and not only that but you could use these podcasts to have memberships and subscription content course creation and educational content product sales and Merchandising sponsorship networks ad platforms and on and on we go there are tons of ways to make money with this new Google notebook IIm podcast generator and I'm going to put the notes and the audios over at download byn notes.
