we have the title this is the suggested title for a Blog article and also the meta description all the hard work is done now you can do this for anything doesn't matter whether you're in e-commerce Professional Services accounting a gym this works time to generate some SEO content we're just going to pick one of these suggested blog titles here I'm going to go with track your SEO success five best rank tracking tools so I'll just just copy that then we just head back over to Claude now we're going to use the SEO blog tool so I'm just going to click on this one again you're going to get a popup just paste in the title so we got that in there then you can choose the tone how you want the the vibe of the the article to feel so it's default is business but I'm going to go with casual and then all we need to do is submit that [Music] all right so our content has been generated I'm just going to copy it we'll check it over in a document so we can take a look all right so here's our article you can see it's come across in markdown format if you have a look down in the bottom Le hand side of the screen you can see it's nearly words it's a mixture of paragraphs bullet points lists it's got all this kind of combination that indicates helpful good quality SEO content and if we go right down the bottom it also gives you some notes associated with the article if you go to the trouble of publishing your content make sure you get Google to index it if you don't force it it could take weeks if not months for Google to pick it up and start giving impression so you get click so once you've published it just head over to Google search console do a URL inspection and if it's not indexed just click Force the indexing and you'll be good all right this is really cool so you might be familiar with the idea that if you add an infographic or a quiz to your page you can get organic backlinks you can also get higher rankings because users that visit your site spend more time on your site so what we're going to do is use clawed artifacts to build a tool that users are going to interact with and it's going to be really cool so I'm going to do something really simple but the choices are endless I'm going to ask Claude to build the classic SN SN game so can you build classic snake game so I can add it to my website we just hit go and using this new feature called artifacts it's going to write the code in a window on the right hand side of the screen so there it goes now you could get it to develop a interactive quiz you could do an interactive infographic whatever you like I have published the game it's on the ambitious Hub you can see it right here I can press start and away it goes I'll probably crash but anyway you can check that out now I hope you got some value from this video if you did give it a like consider subscribing to the channel grab yourself that Chrome extension it's free and I look forward to catching you in the next video
